

THE BRIDGES

Horton Mill Covered Bridge
Off Alabama 75 north of Oneonta.
Towering 70 feet above the Black Warrior River, this 220-foot-long bridge is the highest covered bridge above water in the United States.
Nature trails and a roadside park border the crossing.

The Easley Covered Bridge is the shortest of these bridges. It is 95 feet long and 18 feet above a creek. It was built in 1930 and sits about a mile south of U.S. 231 near the community of Rosa.

The Swann or Joy Covered Bridge is the longest remaining covered bridge in the state and the ninth longest in the country. Built in 1933, it stretches 324 feet across and 27 feet above the Locust Fork River near Cleveland.
